animal narratology interrogates what it means to narrate to speak speak for on behalf of and to voice or represent life beyond the human which is in itself as different as insects bears and dogs are from each other and yet more as individual as a single mouse horse or puma the varied contributions to this interdisciplinary special issue highlight assumptions about the human perception of attitude toward and responsibility for the animals that are read and written about thus demonstrating that just as the animal does not exist neither does the human in their zoopoetic focus the analyses are aware that animal narratology ultimately always contains an approximation of an animal perspective in human terms and terminology yet they make clear that what matters is how the animal is approximated and that there is an effort to approach and encounter the non human in the first place many of the analyses come to the conclusion that literary animals give readers the opportunity to expand their own points of view both on themselves and others by adopting another s perspective to the degree that such an endeavor is possible ultimately the contributions call for a recognition of the many spaces moments and modes in which human lives are entangled with those of animals one of which is located within the creative bounds of storytelling

we are currently engaged in an existential species war against nonhuman animals this book argues that during this war nonhuman animals should be granted legal personhood and treated as protected persons rather than the property of protected persons the main argument is that war crimes and crimes against humanity rape forced pregnancy and other acts of sexual violence are being committed within the meat egg and dairy industries avoiding dreaded comparisons the book explores shared sources of oppression between human and nonhuman animals who are subject to the expressions and consequences of reproductive violence it asks what drives and facilitates the war against nonhuman animals and what are the global consequences of this war throughout it demonstrates how racism sexism and speciesism informs both intrahuman violence and the violence s of the animal industrial complex ultimately the book asks us to reconsider what it means to be human
